A WINNING VIBE

The Capital Property Group was delighted to accept the Brain & Poulter Award for Best Tourism and Leisure Development for the Vibe Hotel Canberra Airport at The Property Council of Australia Innovation & Excellence Awards in Sydney on Friday night.

Capital Property Group's Head of Property, Richard Snow, said the award recognised the outstanding design, construction and appeal of the hotel.

"We set out to redefine the concept of the airport hotel as a drab, often boring and uninspiring place of convenience, and replace it with a unique social destination", Mr Snow said.

"The huge success of the Vibe shows that if you build a design driven quality product that creates a positive guest experience, people will respond".

"The judges appreciated the Vibe's innovative design and exceptional architectural quality. Our architects, Bates Smart, provided us with a unique building which reflects the exceptionally high standards of design and construction we have applied to all the buildings in the Airport precinct".

"Visitors to Canberra, business people and Canberra residents who enjoy great design and the hotel's fantastic atmosphere and service have voted with their feet since the hotel opened in November 2015".

"A special thanks to Toga Far East Hotels on partnering with us to manage this exceptional development".
