Canberra Airport unveils new retail, café and restaurants

Travellers to Canberra Airport will now be greeted with three new restaurants and cafés and a large news, travel and gift shop with a focus on locally-made products designed to showcase Canberra and the surrounding regions.

Today, Airport Retail Enterprises (ARE) is opening a beautiful new café called ‘City Hill Coffee’ which features Canberra’s favourite ONA coffee, near the main atrium’s Unfurling sculpture. They are also launching ‘Noodles XO’ an Asian noodle and sushi offering and ‘Baker’s Cut’ which serves artisan sandwiches and salads featuring local produce.

Australian Way Pty Ltd (AWPL), a world-class airport retailer with stores in many airports around Australia and New Zealand, is also opening a news, books and gift shop featuring high-quality, local gifts, news, books and travel items called ‘News@ CBR.’

“We have enjoyed forging new relationships with local producers to make sure we can offer Canberrans local products whenever possible,” says Richard Snow, Head of Property at Canberra Airport. “We are always trying to enrich the travel experience for Canberrans and our visitors, and we hope the community loves this next stage of this journey as much as we do.”

In 2020, the second stage of the terminal’s new retail will be unveiled and will include another new retail and gift shop called ‘Merchant Canberra’ as well as the much-anticipated ‘Capital Brewing Co. Bar,’ a partnership with the well-known, local brewery which will showcase the latest brews on offer, combined with high-quality, locally-sourced meals.
